SEX SURVEY

In answer to the 20-year-old male from Baltimore who, although he likes women, has never had sexual intercourse with one; he enjoys sex with males and masturbates almost daily, but wants to change and not spend the remainder of his life liking sex with males:

"The answer is simple; just go to bed with unattractive old men and before you know it young girls will be irresistable to you—you must be pretty immature to be worried about masturbating, forget it, except when nothing else is available."

"What are you worried about? When I was seven, I started having sex with a 16-year-old boy,and have been at it ever since. You don't have to be a screaming queen—I do not like people who are remotely swishy. Be yourself, do what you want to—both with other people and yourself. I believe it was our Lord who said, "To thine own self be true."

"My advice to you is to be proud of liking males. Masturbate when you feel like it, but do not let this interfere with any opportunity to go to bed with an attractive male. At 20, you have already decided what you like and want, now accept your own decision and be happy."

"Accept yourself. You are doing what comes naturally to you. If you continue in this way, you will be happier than if you try to change. It you try to change, think of the harm you might do some girl that you married later in life? I have never known anyone who liked men to make a satisfactory adjustment to marriage. No matter how hard they try, they come back to men and in many cases, they ruin not only their lives, but those of wives and children as well. I was like you and made the mistake of marrying. I made another person even more miserable than I was."

"I am happily married and still masturbate on the days between intercourse with my wife. As for worrying about liking men, if more men loved other men and women loved other women, there would be much less strife and conflict in the world."

"Masturbation, like heterosexual intercourse, can be performed as often as you feel like it with no harmful results, as long as you do not feel guilty. As for liking males, this is a matter of individual preference. If there is mutual liking and confidence regarding the acts, they can be as satisfying as heterosexual intercourse. A word to the wise: choose well your partner to avoid being exposed to ridicule, loss of job, or community respect, as the world still seeks conformity and regards heterosexual intercourse as the only normal way."

"I am 21-years-old, and have sexual intercourse with a female about twice a week. However, I am attracted to males and engage in sex with two males of my acquaintance. I masturbate about twice a week. My advice is for you to have intercourse with a female as soon and as regularly as possible, thereby building up your self confidence. This should reduce your desire for male sex partners."

A LETTER FROM MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA:

I am 17-years-old, a high school athlete, and all my friends tell me I am physically attractive. My teammates tell me that because of my looks and because I am very well developed physically, I could go downtown with them and "hustle" men. I have never done anything like this, though I need the money badly, and am tempted to. I am afraid that if I "hustle" this will change my personality and turn me queer. My friends laugh at me and tell me I am crazy; they "hustle" all the time, and it has not changed them. What is the real truth about this? Maybe some of my friends will turn queer later on? What do you think I should do?

What would YOU tell this boy? Send your answers, questions and comments to SEX SURVEY, Box 385, Benjamin Franklin Station, Washington, D.C. 20044

We take this opportunity to thank the hundreds of you who have already taken the time and trouble to send in information over the past few months and to request that your valuable cooperation be continued to the end that the GUILD GUIDE may continue to be the accurate, useful and valuable tool that it has already proven itself to be.

CARNAL MATTERS

by Alexander Goodman Author of THE SOFT SPOT

EVERYBODY LOVES CHARLIE

Charlie Bright "tall, handsome, with a smile like a sun-god" is a young doctor, just beginning his career in San Francisco. He seems to have everything: family, education, looks, youth. Yet it only takes one fiendishly attractive sailor to bring him to the depths of abject misery.

THE BATTLE BETWEEN THE POETS AND THE PAINTERS

"We would kiss each one of you with our poisoned lips,
We would kiss each square inch of you until you died,
Gladly we would kill you with that old love that you so violently despise.
We are the gay. We are the gay."

So reads aloud eccentric poet George Pepper to an astonished audience of very straight young art students. How did this come about? In a clever, biting, panoramic story, Alexander Goodman traces the humorous and poignant history of the clash between the very gay poets and the very straight painters in the very beautiful California hills.

IRVING

The narrator, an inexperienced young sailor in Honolulu, frustrated and lonely, goes out on Christmas Eve, purposely looking for rough trade. In the unhappy achievement of his quest is one of the most pitiful and moving stories in all homosexual literature. Not far the squeamish, but a story for the sympathetic and understanding.

PICTURES YOU'D BE PROUD TO SHOW YOUR MOTHER

Wild comedy! What happens when a gay physique model Jeffrey Crale (self-sufficient, self-assured, and very self-conscious) poses (in the nude) with an extremely sexy, straight Irish Fireman from Hartford? This story ends with a resounding twannnnnnnng !

Alexander Goodman undoubtedly demonstrates he is among the top short storytellers writing today. His frank, honest, sometimes wise, sometimes humorous approach in Carnal Matters confirms the talent so evident in his first book, The Soft Spot. A must for all those readers looking for the truth in homosexual society today.
